

The University of Lethbridge Archaeological Field School at Head-Smashed-In Buffalo Jump UNESCO World Heritage Site in Southern Alberta

This application form is for the University of Lethbridge's archaeological field school at Head-Smashed-In Buffalo Jump (DkPj-1) UNESCO World Heritage Site in southern Alberta from May 9 – June 26, 2022.

Nine credits will be awarded for the successful completion of this field school. Accepted students will register in ARKY 3000: Material Culture from Head-Smashed-In Buffalo Jump, ARKY 3300: Archaeological Field Work: Alberta, and ARKY 3400: Theoretical Approaches to Plains Archaeology in Summer Session I at the University of Lethbridge. Senior students that participated in the 2021 field school will register in ARKY 4500: Advanced Archaeological Field Work instead of ARKY 3300, along with ARKY 3000 and 3400. These courses will be taught by Drs. Shawn Bubel and Kevin McGeough. Students may register for these courses only after they have received notification of acceptance to the field school. For information regarding fees, registration and payment, consult the university Calendar at <https://www.uleth.ca/ross/academic-calendar>

Please note that the following course (or its equivalent) is a prerequisite for the field school: Archaeology 1000 (Introduction to Archaeology). Students should have also completed a 3000-level Archaeology course. Due to the limited number of spaces available, preference for admission to the field school will be given to those majoring in Archaeology and have completed 10 courses, but students of all disciplines are encouraged to apply.

The field school begins with two-week online course from May 9-20. Students will participate in daily lectures and activities in preparation for the excavations and laboratory work. Students should plan to arrive at basecamp, a campground facility close to Head-Smashed-In Buffalo Jump on May 22. Students and instructors must stay at the field basecamp for the duration of the excavations at Head-Smashed-In Buffalo Jump (4 weeks). On June 19, the field school team will carpool to the Westcastle field station for the final week of the field school. There students will sort, clean, catalogue, and analyze the excavated cultural materials. The last day of the field school is June 26.

Though there are no COVID-19 restrictions currently in place in Alberta, we must do our best to limit our exposure to the virus. We do not want anyone in the group to contract COVID-19 and subsequently spread it to the rest of the excavation team. Therefore, students should view the two-week online course as a self-isolation period to ensure they are COVID-19 free when they arrive at basecamp. We will then continue to limit our exposure to the virus throughout the field school. Our basecamp is at a private campground close to the site. The facilities are limited but there are sinks and showers, as well as power outlets. All meals will be communal but those with strict dietary restrictions should plan to bring extra items they need.

MEDICAL HISTORY AND COVID-19 INFORMATION

PURPOSE OF THE MEDICAL FORM

This form serves to protect you and the Head-Smashed-In Buffalo Jump Archaeological Project by alerting those persons who may not be medically fit for strenuous work and difficult living conditions to reconsider applying. Many people are unaware of how ailments, which are minor in an urban environment, may become significant problems in an isolated and stressful location. Therefore, we ask you, for your own protection, as well as for our assessment, to be completely candid in filling out this form and not to leave out pertinent information, even if you think it may jeopardize your acceptance.

At other archaeological excavations, volunteers have had recurrences of chronic ailments and/or slight physical problems, which affect participation in the dig. As a result, special medical attention of an emergency nature was required and resulted in leave from the excavation site. We are forced to disclaim responsibility under these conditions. WE THEREFORE SOLICIT YOUR FULL COOPERATION IN FILLING OUT THE FOLLOWING FORM. THANK YOU.
